

Jane and Michael Audition Material

Michael: No, no, I won't take your nasty medicine.

Jane: Do we have to Mary Poppins?

Mary: People who get their feet wet must learn to take their medicine.

(Mary pours medicine into the spoons that Michael and Jane are holding and into her own spoon)

Michael: I don't want it, I'm not gonna.....

Jane: Ahh!

(Jane and Michael take their medicine.)

Jane: Lime, delicious.

Michael: Strawberry, mmm.

(Mary also takes some medicine)

Mary: Rum punch, quite satisfactory.

(The kids get into their beds and Mary tucks them in)

Jane: Mary Poppins you won't ever leave us, will you?

Michael: Will you stay if we promise to be good?

Mary: Oh, that's a piecrust promise, easily made easily broke.

Jane: Whatever would we do without you?

Mary: I shall stay until the wind changes.

Michael: But Mary Poppins, how long will that be?

Mary: Silence please, it's time to go to sleep.

Jane: Oh we couldn't possibly go to sleep, so many lovely things happened today.

Mary: Did they?

Jane: Yes, when we saw the statue and all those other wonderful characters from the pictures came to life.

Michael: And we rode the merry go round and all the horses jumped off

Jane and Michael: And we all had a Jolly Holiday together.

Mary: Now not another word or I shall have to summon the constable, is that clear? Go to sleep.

Michael: No I don't want to go to sleep.

Jane: Mary Poppins we're much too excited.

The lyrics are as follows:

Jane and Michael:

Boring, just like other nannies
Thinking parks are good for us
It's just statues, ducks and grannies
I don't understand all the fuss

Jane:

Is she doing it to spite us?

Michael:

We could lose her for a lark

Jane:

Perhaps it's all a plot

Michael:

I'll tell you what
She seems so different

Jane and Michael:

But I bet she's not
There is nothing to excite us
In the park
